Intelligent Solution Guidance

Wave Representatives is an experienced solutions representative providing technology guidance to institutions ranging from global corporations to government entities looking to modernize their technological capabilities. This assistance is often behind the scenes working with security providers to design systems, demonstrate products and ensure cost efficiencies.

Our experience is available as a free service, since Wave Representatives passes its fees onto the manufacturer, allowing us to contribute from an embedded footing with a deeper proficiency and vantage point on the products and services that form the solution being deployed.

Our range of products and services span many competencies that shape an organization.

Audiovisual

It's often said that your solution is only as good as its weakest link. Many times, audio and visual systems are overlooked within the physical security space however, with advances in high resolution imagery over the last decade, organizations of all sizes are now realizing the need for high quality, 24x7 commercial grade video displays for example. Security Operations Centers, require unified communications systems that deliver complete multimedia design.

Infrastructure

The need for powerful voice and data systems requires a modern and robust structured cabling foundation. Cooling systems, uninterrupted power and racks are essential components for any organization looking to modernize their physical security systems.

Fire & Life Safety

Protecting people and property is a core competency for facilities who are required to create comprehensive building safety. Wave Representatives is aligned with leading companies who provide outstanding solutions to address your most important need.

Information Technology

The lines between modern security solutions and information technology systems blur and require aligned teams to ensure cyber security and fault tolerance. The genesis of Wave Representatives began in the enterprise storage space delivering high performance computing, storage, networking and data management software solutions.

Physical Security

Security Industry has evolved massively in recent years from antiquated analog system to IP based network products, high resolution video surveillance, enterprise storage systems, cloud-based recording services, audio integration, wireless intrusion detection, biometric recognition, advanced analytics, robotics systems and more. Wave Representatives has been at the forefront of these technological advancements, contributing to their refinement and market influence.
